Introduction

The men who guided the course of History, those who changed the thought and those who worked for the welfare of mankind or otherwise served the country are generally fit subjects of research. The subject need not sit pretty atop life's Mt. Everest. It is enough if one reaches a hilltop by his own efforts. To attempt to do research on the life of a well known figure in public life, particularly of on whose political and social career had spanned nearly five eventful decades, is indeed a difficult task. A remarkable feature of India's social and freedom movement is the valuable service rendered at different stages by a long line of distinguished persons at the national and local levels who felt a deep and genuine affection for the motherland. These men gave a healthy tone to our public life through records of personal purity and uncompromising adherence to convictions, which have become all too rare in the years of our Independence and after. Most social and political activities are activated by a variety of motives: they may wish to earn money, advance their careers, defeat personal enemies, achieve public or private ends, and so on. There is another category of leaders who came with firm principles and strong convictions and dedicated their lives to active the goals for which those persons and principles stood. To this last category belonged Dr. B. R. Ambedkar social revolutionary and tireless fighter for social equality from Maharashtra Region. He was one of the most notable fighters of India for social equality. B. R. Ambedkar, Principal
